Somalia bomb blast claims at least 276

Al-Shabab blamed for nation's deadliest attack

BY ABDI GULED
Associated Press

MOGADISHU, Somalia — A powerful bomb blast in Somalia's capital killed 276 people and injured about 300, the country's information minister said early Monday, making it the deadliest single attack in this African nation. The toll was expected to rise.

In a tweet, Abdirahman

Osman called Saturday's attack "barbaric" and said countries including Turkey and Kenya had offered to send medical aid. Hospitals were overwhelmed a day after a truck bomb targeted a crowded street near key government ministries, including foreign affairs.

As angry protesters gathered near the scene of the attack, Somalia's government blamed the al-Qaida-linked al-Shabab extremist group for what it called a "national disaster." Africa's deadliest Islamic extremist group, which often targets high-profile areas of the capital, had yet to comment.

Al-Shabab earlier this year vowed to step up attacks after both the Trump administration and Somalia's recently elected presi-

Difficult finances? Ask an expert

Q: My $29,000 student loan with 8.25 percent interest is now at $69,000. I have been deferring payments but cannot do that any longer. What options do I have to pay this loan off? We have equity in our home and I have a 401(k) plan at work.

— L.B., Ocoee

A: There are risks in each approach. If you use a home-equity loan, your husband is assuming 50 percent of your loan. If you use a 401(k) withdrawal, you will pay a 10 percent penalty plus 28 percent in income tax on the withdrawal. Your best option might be a 401(k) loan at 5 percent and pay in the max that you can afford each pay period to pay this down — but be sure that you know the repayment repercussions if you should leave your company before the loan is paid off.

KAKÁ BIDS A SAD FAREWELL

Orlando City's team captain, Kaká, hugs, signs autographs and poses with fans after the team's final home game of the season against Columbus on Sunday evening. The Lions lost to the Crew 1-0.

Final match ends, predictably, in loss

MIKE BIANCHI
Sentinel Columnist

Two kids jumped over the wall near the end of Sunday's farewell match, ran toward Kaká, fell to their knees and bowed at the soccer legend's feet.

Kaká, a polite and gentle role model until the very end, wrapped his arms around the two trespassers, tousled their hair and shepherded them off the field.

"They told me they were going to miss me," Kaká said after his final MLS game in an Orlando City uniform, "and I told them I was going to miss them."

It was one of many emotional moments for Kaká, whose tearful departure leaves soccer fans in this city conflicted and confounded. Sadly, his final home MLS match ended like too many other MLS matches during his three seasons in Orlando. The disappointing 1-0 defeat to Columbus came on a night when everybody — his fans, his coaches and his teammates — desperately wanted to send

Utility customers decry sky-high power bills despite storm outages

BY JASON RUITER
Staff Writer

After going without power for eight days because of Hurricane Irma, Nancy Feeney of Tavares figured her electric bill would drop.

Instead, the Duke Energy customer's tab jumped to $457 from her last bill of $222.

"Highest bill I ever, ever had," said the 77-year-old widow, who lives on a fixed income. "It just floored me when I opened it." Numerous people have complained about higher bills from a variety of utilities despite going without electricity for days because of power outages caused by Hurricane Irma, which battered Central Florida last month.

Some reported their bills lowered or were the same, but dozens of comments on social media claimed bills were dras-

Seminole sues clerk of courts over control of millions in investments

BY MARTIN E. COMAS
Staff Writer

A simmering feud between Seminole County commissioners and the clerk of courts over who controls the investment of hundreds of millions of dollars is headed to court.

Clerk of Courts and Comptroller Grant Maloy, who was elected last year, has asserted that his job includes making the day-to-day investment decisions on as much as $460 million in surplus county funds. Commissioners say he's wrong and unanimously voted last month to file a lawsuit against him in hopes a judge will side with them.

"Mr. Maloy is very full of himself as far as this is concerned," commission Chairman John Horan said at a recent meeting. "I'm exhausted working with Mr. Maloy on this issue. ... I don't trust him. I just don't
